

YES, IT'S FOR REAL

The True (?) Saga Of Upland's Giant White Rooster

Up in the air. Is it a bird? A plane?

No, it's a giant white rooster. Upland Feed and Fuel's giant white fiberglass rooster has been a landmark in Upland since 1962. O. L. Decker, co-owner of the company, said the chicken was purchased from a traveling salesman who had a menagerie of fiberglass chickens, steers and bears.

The rooster, a 150 pound Leghorn, cost Decker about $150. Three or four employees hauled the rooster to its present perch

The giant bird has remained nameless and lonely. Decker has no plans to end the bird's lonely vigilance over the city of Upland. He does not even plan to add feminine company. Perhaps he is afraid of a falling egg hazard...

The bird has retained remarkably good health. He has not gained a pound, despite all the goodies produced below him. Decker has not felt the need to have the bird licensed nor have it vaccinated. He feels that this unusual variety of Leghorn, "chickenus plasticus" is one of the few birds in the world immune to the dreaded Exotic Newcastle disease. Decker did not mention if this fact has been reported to the scientists. Perhaps he is afraid of being engulfed by scientists who would want to study the nameless rooster.

Otis Braden, animal control officer for the city does not feel that the Upland Feed and Fuel Co. can be charged with cruelty to animals. Braden feels that the rooster is of a remarkable breed and can withstand the rigors of being out in the open. Even the fact that the chicken is bolted in place did not draw sympathy from Braden.

The nameless rooster is silent on the subject and does not complain about conditions.

He has escaped being labeled a "public nuisance" because he is not a crowing rooster. Anyway, the city has its civil defense siren to sound off, and the chicken does not want the competition. Perhaps the rooster is suffering from an inferiority complex.

According to Decker, the chicken may be the highlight to a child's visit to town. He says that many parents are requested to drive around the block so their children can look at the chicken -- again.

Decker says the chicken used to be lighted, but in the course of 12 years, lights have burnt out.

Decker does not have a sympathetic nature toward the rooster. "Feeling for the rooster? I don't have any feeling for it. It's just a plastic chicken."

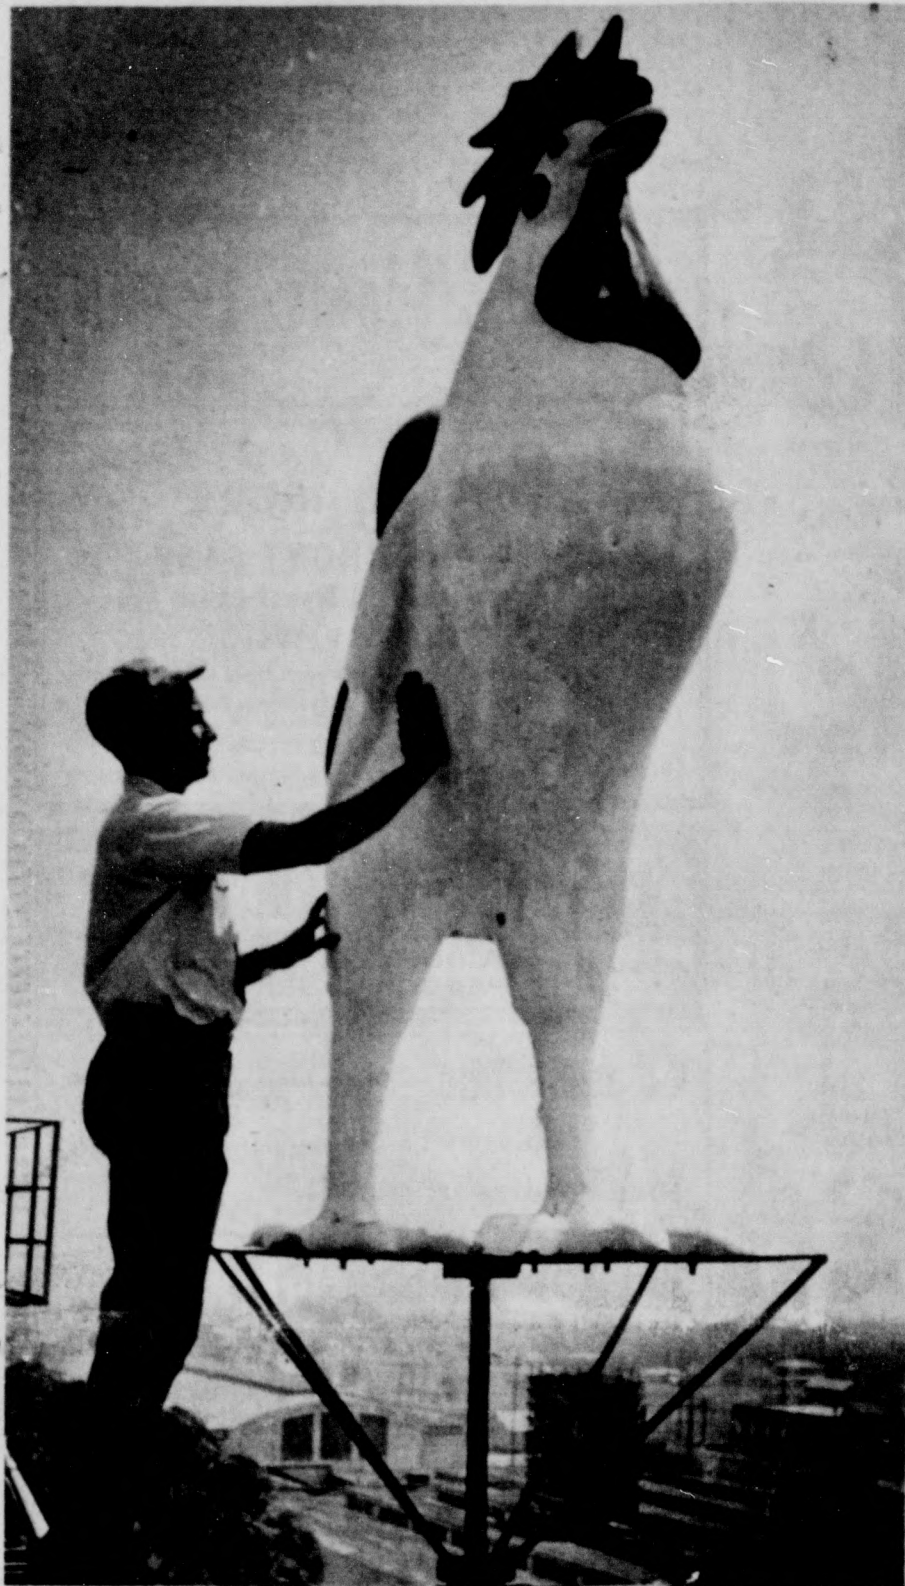

The co-owner of the Upland Feed and Fuel does not believe the symbol of a giant white chicken over his company alludes to a "fowl" operation.

While the bird does not have a name, it does merit special consideration from the City of Upland.

Lee Travers, assistant city manager, calls it a "granddaddy chicken." He also calls it "a nonconforming chicken."

Some less romantic persons have suggested a place for the "nonconforming" rooster, but that would not be appropriate to the highest landmark in Upland!

CHICKEN ON HIGH -- The 150-pound white rooster of the Upland Feed and Fuel has been a landmark in Upland since 1962. O. L. Decker, co-owner of the company, has no plans to end the rooster's lonely vigil by giving him feminine company.

FOWL SYMBOL -- The seven-foot rooster seldom has company on his multistory perch. He has remained nameless to the Feed and Fuel Company, but not to the city. Within the city annals, this giant white chicken is known as a "non-conforming" chicken because of his arrival before the sign ordinance. After all, you would hope he is a little "nonconforming." Would you want many 150-pound roosters?

Upland Safe From 235 Housing--For Now

Councilman Hal Ballin defended federally subsidized housing as a method to break a "vicious circle" before upset homeowners at a special council meeting held this week at Upland Elementary school.

However, Ballin's view was in the minority.

More than 300 irate homeowners did not favor 235 federally subsidized houses and indicated their favor for two petitions presented to the council advocating a moratorium and opposition to concentrations of low cost housing.

The fireworks were really over before the meeting began because the developer of the tract on Alta Ave. between 14th and 15th Sts. bowed to public pressure.

Richard Lewis of Lewis Homes, said in a letter to the council, "We have relinquished financial interest in this development and have no intention of acquiring the property nor building homes on it."

Because HUD had already approved the plan, Lewis was the only one who could stop the building of federally subsidized housing.

The council repeatedly stressed that they could not stop a HUD development nor is HUD required to tell the city about federally subsidized homes for an area.

Councilman John McCarthy explained that the homes would cost up to $23,000 and that most of the people who apply for these homes must have a job. He said that very few are on welfare.

However, most of the homeowners did not agree with Ballin. Two petitions were presented to the council with over 1200 signatures.

One petition with 675 signatures called for a moratorium on all building for a period of time that the council deemed appropriate.

During this moratorium, the petition requested an investigation into the quality of future housing within the city and an evaluation of school facilities and fire and police department manpower and equipment.

The other petition with about 600 signatures stated the residents' dislike of concentrated low cost housing.

"We've done all this in the last 12 days," said Ms. Rose. Hence, "The moratorium petition was started only Saturday."

She said, "We are against the elementary problem of building 36 homes in a one block area on 7,500 foot lots."

"We will continue to circulate these petitions due to the fact that the council wasn't too impressed with these two petitions with over 1,000 signatures," said John Scheerer. "We'll give them ten times that amount at the next meeting."

"There is no problem getting the signatures," he said. "The problem is changing some councilmen's attitudes."

Scheerer said that interested persons may contact 985-3132 or 985-4382.

McCarthy said that the city's hands were tied because they cannot deny a housing development because it is federally financed.

Homeowners maintained that many residents who would buy this kind of housing would be unable to pay the expense for the upkeep of the home.

Ballin strongly appealed to the homeowner audience that Upland should have their fair sampling of 235 and 236 housing. He questioned the petitions submitted to the council because "We are all opposed to concentrated areas of low cost housing."

"Some people live in an area of poverty. It is a vicious circle which keeps them in the ghettos," said Ballin.

"It seems to me, the only way to break the cycle of poverty is to give them a chance to get out. You can't buy a $14,000 house in a nice neighborhood any more."

He added, "You have to have a job to be qualified for these homes. If given a chance, many would prefer a decent living instead of welfare."

To the homeowner complaints regarding the city's planning, Ballin reminded the audience that the city has had a master plan since 1953, which is to aid in the development of Upland.

"A general plan can't be fixed," he cautioned. "To be viable, it must be allowed to change and adapt to the needs of the area."

NO ACTION AGAINST STABLES

Upland City Council, Monday, took no formal action against horse stables on the north side of 14th near an extension of Fifth.

However, Donald Moroney, city attorney, indicated a business license was needed for the operation of the stables.

Action was not taken on the termination of the nonconforming use of the property because of a lack of information.

The stables, which presently house 10 horses, have been the object of citizens complaints. They charge the stables with bringing in excess flies and bad odors.

The property has had a twenty year lease which will expire October, 1973. This property is presently for sale.

Councilman George Gibson said, "It appears we can't do anything until 1973 and there is a lack of evidence. I would advise the riders to keep their horses off Francis Avenue and keep the stalls cleaner."

He also recommended that the county Health and Safety Department inspect the grounds and stalls for cleanliness.

The central problem centers around the original intention for use of the land. The Council and administrative help was not sure if the land was originally to be used for the owner's original two horses or if it allowed the present owner to board horses.

The city attorney said that they had no record of what the property was used for in 1953.

In 1962, the question came up again. The use of the property for horse racing was discussed as a noncommercial use.

Maroney indicated that the present situation had changed since 1962 because there appeared to be evidence of utilizing the property for commercial purposes in the renting of stables.

The stables are cleaned and the horse's food is provided by the owner. Each horseowner pays Harold Collins, owner of the property, $20 a month.

"He would need a commercial license of some kind. He says his rental business is not commercial. I don't agree," says Maroney.

"Rental space for horses is not like land for rent. It is a business and you should get a license," said Maroney.

Local residents at the public hearing complained of inconsiderate riders, flies, odors, uncleanliness and questioned if the land was originally zoned for horses.

Collins, retorted that the residents moved into the area aware of the stables. "As the people moved in, so have their Baja buggies, dogs, minibikes which scare the horses."

He said that odors came from the resident's homes because the prevailing winds blew them toward the stables. Another person favoring the stables said that the kids were not on the streets and were doing something constructive.

New Zoning Approved At City Council

One general plan amendment was approved to allow C-4 zoning on a small section of land in between San Bernardino freeway ramps and two other general plan amendments were discontinued at this week's jammed city council meeting.

The request for specific zone change for the property was continued in another action, because it will take 60 days for the general plan amendment to become part of the code.

The developers, Ralph H. Miller and Charles L. Milhiser, said that they could wait the sixty days because they were still working on the arrangements for a high-quality motel and restaurant for the area.

The manager of the Uplander Motor Hotel said in the public hearing that motels were going through a recession in this valley and that it was "very speculative."

Hal Ballin said, "It is not the purpose of the council to sit as judges on a proposed business." He emphasized that he would like to have the proposed drawings and the finished building have similarity.

The zone change for the property will come before the council again in the first meeting in July.

The other two general plan amendments were continued because of an error in their publication in a newspaper.

General plan amendment 45 calls for rezoning to lower densities along Mountain Ave., north of Foothill to the proposed Foothill Freeway on the east side of the street.

Hal Ballin questioned Stan Eisner, a city planning consultant, on the purpose of the zone changes. Eisner was assigned to review the existing general plan since changes have been adopted.

Eisner stressed that he had recommended higher densities nearer the proposed freeway but those had been changed by the planning commission.

Ballin pressed Eisner for his reason for allowing an increased density. Eisner said that his changes were done along the lines of "consistency with the surrounding area."

When pressed, Eisner said that the decision for densities was "a legislative matter... A general plan is a general plan. Zoning is precise. Zoning gives guidance on the maximum density. This allows some variation, as long as the overall density doesn't exceed the limits."

Eisner suggested the west side of the street to remain as it is on the master plan because of the present development.

A neighborhood commercial was proposed at 16th and Mountain and it was Eisner's opinion that this would be needed. Eisner said the term "neighborhood commercial" should be defined so that residents realize that "we are not talking about strip commercial or other kinds of commercial development. It will be the kind of light commercial that will service the needs of a community in that area."

Most of the residents in the area expressed a desire for single family residences, some persons in the public hearing did express an interest in condominiums.

Dewey Cable warned the council, "You are inviting trouble on Mountain Ave." Cable stressed the street would have higher traffic and that there would be problems with residential houses facing the streets.

Comments were also expressed about the inappropriate location for a house next to a freeway off-ramp.

The other amendment to the general plan designates a change from the presently zoned park and golf course to an area of light industrial and snake-like park through 13th to 15th St. between Benson and Mountain.

According to Rod Anderson, city planning engineer, the extension of light industrial with a park buffer zone will provide a zone for landing aircraft to Cable airport, and not disturb many residences.

Contingent upon this general plan amendment is a mobile home park extension. Fred Blanton, a representative of the mobilehome developers, does not feel that this would bring trouble to the airport because of residents' complaints about noise.

"If the residents have complaints about the noise, they can move. It won't devalue his home," said Blanton.

According to Anderson, the reason the general plan was reviewed was because of this proposed mobilehome park.

Paul Cable said, "The property has been zoned and rezoned until the property owners don't know what to do. I've lost $35,000. I'd like to see a golf course and light industry."

Dewey Cable said, that because of federal regulations, the government will intercede on developments within 2,000 feet of an airport. "Now the government will tell you what to do," said Cable.

Frank Carpenter, planning commission member, said that the major decision was whether the city wanted the airport. "If you don't want it, bring in homes and that's the closest thing to the death of an airport." He added that the proposed land slot might allow descending aircraft an area which would not bother residents.

Stan Eisner, city planning consultant, agreed with the proposed plan for the area.

Drought Threat Severe

Water From North Arrives 'Just' In Time

First distribution of water from Northern California has been started by the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California just in time to stave off some shortages in a year of extreme drought.

Water originating from the Feather River and other streams is flowing from Castaic Reservoir, terminus of the West Branch of the $2.8 billion State Water Project, into the northwestern portion of MWD's vast distribution system serving the populous coastal plain of Southern California.

"If not for this new supply, MWD General Manager Frank Clinton said, we would have been very hardpressed to provide sufficient water at least for agricultural use in the District this year—principally in Orange, Riverside and San Diego counties."

"These facts defy critics who contend the State Water Project is not needed," Clinton added. "Without it, we would be running out of water in a very few years even for domestic uses."

The initial portions of the new supply are going to Las Virgenes and Calleguas municipal water districts, MWD member agencies, respectively, in northwestern Los Angeles County and Ventura County. The two districts have a combined population of more than 300,000.

The water from the north is replacing water the two agencies were receiving from MWD's Colorado River Aqueduct system and thus making that water available for other District areas.

Clinton said the record winter drought and unseasonably high demand for water this year made it impossible for the first time in District history to fill Lake Mathews, terminal reservoir of the Colorado River Aqueduct. A shortage of about 30,000 acre-feet in storage at Lake Mathews will now be mitigated, however, by water MWD is receiving from Castaic Reservoir.

Water from Lake Castaic, created by a 335-foot high embankment dam, flows into the District's Foothill Feeder south through the Newhall-Saugus area to the $50-million Joseph Jensen Filtration Plant in the Granada Hills area of the San Fernando Valley.

The facility, named after District Board Chairman Joseph Jensen, a long time leader in efforts to obtain additional supplemental water for Southern California, is designed to filter 200 million gallons of water a day. Suspended matter is removed and the water is chlorinated to kill all bacteria.

Within the next year, the District is scheduled to deliver the new supply to the South Bay area of Los Angeles County as well as to such cities as San Fernando, Burbank, Glendale, Santa Monica, Beverly Hills, Culver City and Inglewood.

Distribution will include blending Colorado River water and supplies from Northern California, with State Project facilities and District works scheduled to go into operation at a rate that will make possible distribution of northern water to all 27 MWD member agencies by 1976.

Distribution to areas in Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino and San Diego counties will be from the East Branch of the California Aqueduct, which terminates at Perris Reservoir near Riverside.

The state project this year—about 50,000 acre-feet—and the demand will grow by about 75,000 acre-feet a year until the

"We need substantial quantities of water from mid-1980's," Clinton said.

A bigger boost in the need for water from the north will occur then when the District, under terms of a United States Supreme Court decision in 1963, will lose to Arizona more than one half of its Colorado River supply -- approximately 600 million gallons a day.

That will happen, Clinton said, when construction is completed on the long-delayed Central Arizona Project to carry water from Lake Havasu to the Phoenix and Tucson areas.

The District's expansion program to ultimately distribute nearly two billion gallons of water a day from the state project—2,011,500 acre-feet a year--includes 300 miles of pipelines and other facilities.

ONLY TWO ZOOS in the world exhibit the extremely rare, valuable Arabian Oryx -- Los Angeles and Phoenix. Successful breeding programs at both facilities have led to an oryx swap -- one young female from Los Angeles for one young male from Phoenix. The exchange, will help establish strong new breeding herds to assure the rare Arabian antelopes' survival.

'Open House' Sunday At Edison Plant

An opportunity to tour and view Southern California Edison Company's most modern substation facility is being offered this coming Sunday afternoon, according to M.E. Horsley, Edison district manager.

The multimillion dollar "low profile" Padua Substation will be open to the general public May 7, from 12-noon to 5 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Located on a 30-acre site at the intersection of 16th Street and Campus Drive, Upland, the "showcase" facility reflects a number of features with respect to esthetic treatment.

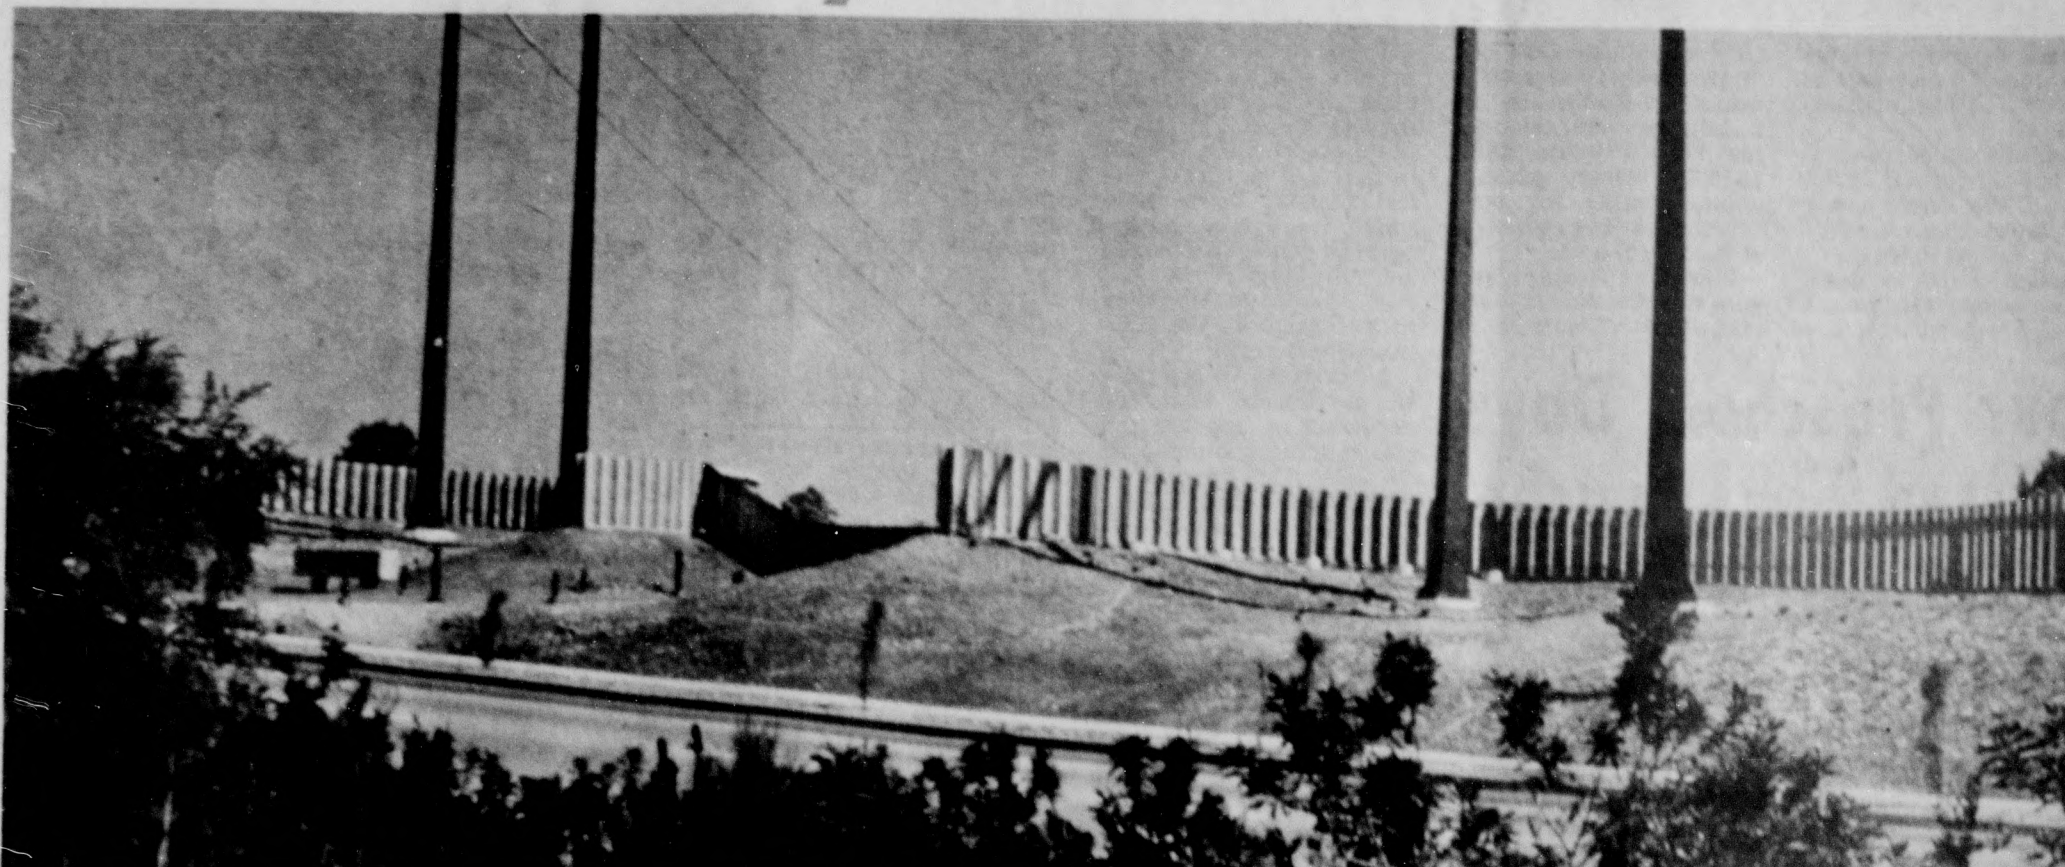

To achieve its low-profile, Padua was constructed on a foundation below street level, Horsley said. A high earthen berm surrounds three sides of the station, and a ten-foot -high serpentine walltops the berm to completely surround the site.

Trees and shrubs have been planted to give a park-like appearance. The exterior design, as well as the arch-type transmission towers, are by award-winning industrial designer Henry Dreyfuss.

Padua not only enables a higher-quality electric service to Edison customers in the area, but the substation also provides a broad base for additional residential and business growth, Horsley pointed out.

Padua Substation became a functioning part of the Edison system last September, representing an investment of nearly $4 million and returning property taxes of nearly $100,000 to county and local governments, he said.

PUBLIC TOURS SUNDAY — Unique "low-profile" design of Edison's new million dollar Padua Substation is highlighted by this Campus Dr. main entrance view, showing earthen berm, extensive landscaping and serpentine metal wall. The facility will be open to the public from noon to 5 p.m., Sunday, May 7.

In J. O'Brien's Looking Glass Lightly

Perhaps there is a bit of John O'Brien in all of us... In another time, perhaps during the depression, John O'Brien would have been called a "hobo." Perhaps a bum. Maybe something worse. John O'Brien is a traveler, a freewheeling vagabond recording to memory all the grand sights the world has to offer. He has traveled more miles than his legs care to remember. "I'm at that awkward walking age," he said, walking through the Upland-Cucamonga area recently. "At 60 I'm not old enough for social security and too old to be hired for manual work." O'Brien explained that he works from town to town at "any work a man at my age can get." He doesn't mind minimum wage jobs because "I don't think it's worth the aggravation any more," said the 35 year salesman of real estate acreage and books. "I guess I liked that best, I made a lot of money at it."

But I guess I don't have any respect for money, or else I would have saved some." He reflected, "As you get older, you change, your needs become simpler. You don't want the things you did when you were younger. It's tinsel. Madison Avenue encourages you to buy things you don't need, I don't buy something unless I can use it every day. I don't believe in the accumulation of things just for the sake of it."

According to O'Brien, people are pushed to buy things so they need to work. "People don't retire now. They work 30 years in the military and will come out and find another job as a guard within a day. They'll hold onto that job until they drop dead."

My generation has not come out of the ether," said O'Brien. "They seem to think that the status quo will remain and that the future isn't in jeopardy at all. Some of the younger kids know differently."

He cited government overspending and asked, "What if the young people of today decide they don't want to pay for it? What happens to the country?"

O'Brien did not plan the life of a traveler when he left his "middle-class home" in Oak Park, Ill. at 14 to become an office boy in Chicago. "I was anxious to have the things kids in more favorable circumstances had," he said.

He worked on railroads, selling and in logging camps. "I've even done a little panhandling from time to time," he smiled. "It isn't my career," he said, "but I just don't believe in going hungry."

His last "permanent" stay was in Everett, Wa. where he sold room additions for four years. He "got tired of the place" and headed south.

He has not been to Southern California since he saw the Los Angeles Olympics "where Babe Didrickson dominated the games," he says. "He rode the rails in those years. He encountered a few problems, such as being robbed twice. "I was in the boxcar near Glendale when a man came at me with a knife and wanted my watch and wallet," said O'Brien. "I'm glad I didn't sneeze, or he'd have cut my throat."

When low on funds, O'Brien seeks shelter in lots or in the open. He doesn't like parks, because the "police bother you too much."

G. Innes In Record Run

Under ordinary circumstances, Upland's Gordon Innes' two-mile time of 9:07.3 would have been good enough to win almost any track meet.

But the 14th Annual MSAC Relays was not an ordinary track meet. Santa Ana's Marc Genet ran the fourth best two-mile time ever by a high-school athlete, in the time of 8:53.3, Innes finished fifth, but stayed with Genet all the way until the final 330 to the tape. The grueling race is one of the toughest in track and field and Innes' persistent pressure on Genet contributed to the record breaking performance. It was also the first time four preppers managed to break the nine-minute barrier in the same race.

In other track action, Bonita High School hurdler Dave Shamblyn raced to a 19.2 first place finish in the Invitational 180-yard low hurdle race last Friday at the MSAC Relays. Upland's Rick Martin and Garey High's Bill Houston captured the second and third places in the event. Shamblyn, however, simply overpowered the competition and won the race by six yards. Shamblyn came back on Saturday to win the 110 meter hurdles in 14.4 to defeat a strong field including CIF Champ James Royal of Long Beach.

Marcus Gordien, son of former Olympic Discus Champion Fortune Gordien, sailed the discus more than 172 feet but had to be content with second place. The Claremont High star has the best discus mark in the Valley, and no doubt has been able to pick up some valuable pointers from his super dad.

Living up to his reputation of top physical conditioning, Olympic Champion George Young was named as the first athlete to be honored at the newly-created MSAC Relays Hall of Fame. The three-time Olympian showed the crowd of more than 11,000 track fans why he is a good bet to make it to his fourth Olympics as he raced to a solid 13:53.4 in the 5,000 meters. Young, who has captured gold medals in the steeplechase, decided to try the 5,000 meters, and did so in exciting fashion. The race saw Young run the 4th through 11th laps in second place behind Georgetown University's Steve Stageberg. But over the last 330 yards, the oldtimer really poured it on the field and shocked the crowd with his amazing strength at the finish. Young finished 30 yards ahead of former Olympic champion Garry Lingen. Olympic Champion Bob Seagren, formerly of Pomona High, Mt. SAC, USC and now with the Southern California Striders Club, cleared 17-7 1/2" at the relays and gave proof to all that he was once again in top form.

The former world-record holder drew to a tie with Sweden's famed Kjell Isaksson and Steve Smith of Cal State Long Beach. Isaksson holds the world record with a vault of 18-2. Seagren tried unsuccessfully to clear 18-01 1/2 three times, but the crowd of 11,000 fans cheered his every move. Seagren, a former MSAC track star, said he felt like his old self again, and that could make for exciting competition before the Olympics get underway this summer in Munich, West Germany.

Women's Rights Amendment Killed By Senate

The Senate Rules Committee Wednesday, in effect, killed for the 1972 legislative session a resolution adding California's ratification to the proposed U.S. constitutional amendment guaranteeing equal rights for women.

Women labor leaders contended during an emotional committee hearing that the amendment would invalidate laws protecting 3 million female workers in California.

The committee, on a 4-0 vote, decided to take the ratification resolution, by Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally, D-Los Angeles, under submission until bills are passed guaranteeing that the protective safeguards for working women are not invalidated.

"For this year it's dead," Dymally told newsmen afterward.

The Assembly last week overwhelmingly adopted a similar resolution by Assemblyman Walter Karabian, D-Monterey Park. But the Senate Rules Committee's action appeared to doom that measure's fate for this session.

The Rules Committee already had rejected the resolution once but had granted it a re-hearing.

At the end of the long second hearing, Dymally - the Senate's only Negro - bitterly remarked that opposition testimony reminded him of arguments Southern "used to make against equal rights for blacks."

This brought an equally bitter retort from John F. Henning, secretary-treasurer of the AFL-CIO in California, who said he regarded Dymally's remark "as a direct insult that we shall not forget."

The proposed federal amendment states in part: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by any state on account of sex."

Thirty-eight states must ratify the amendment for it to become the 27th constitutional amendment.

"This is not a test of liberation, of femininity or anything else. It is a question of equal rights," said Anita Miller, president of the California branch of the American Association of University Women.

But Luella Hanberry, of Berkeley, vice president of the Union Women's Alliance to Gain Equality, complained that "one class of women in the (liberation) movement is attempting to exploit another class of less affluent women."

GET YOUR GARDEN GROWING Today's Vegetable Turn-on

To own a bit of ground, to scratch it with a hoe, to plant seeds and watch the renewal of life - this is the commonest delight of the race, the most satisfactory thing a man can do.

Jack has a full time job as a mechanic in a local firm and Laurie is a hair-stylist at Lucille's Beauty Shop in Upland. Advice from Jack to the beginner is 'consult your local nurseryman for help to get the right start.'

If you decide to plant your first vegetable garden this spring, there is one major pitfall to avoid: Don't make it too big, or you'll become a slave to your nurturing instincts. When poring over seed catalogs, it's easy to get carried away. There is a much greater variety of vegetables available from seed than from the local supermarket, and all look so appetizing in glorious color. A good-sized but manageable garden is 25 feet square. However, you can have a respectable small-scale vegetable patch no bigger than 10 by 15. Plan rows to be 2 to 4 feet apart -- the idea is to have leaves meet (but not overlap) when plants are mature, so the weeds that grow between rows can be choked out.

Even a very small space will give you room enough for bush snap beans, Swiss chard, beets, peas, cucumbers and squash for summer and fall. You can also grow parsley, chives, basil and other herbs between the rows of small-leaved plants.

THIS CAULIFLOWER cut by Jack was only one of the goodies ready for the table.

Start 'em from seed

Like to start your plants from seed? If so, here's the lineup for April as recommended by Germain's, Inc.:

Amaranthus, Australian Pea Vine, Blue Lace Flower, Calliopsis, Cockscorn (Celosia), Cosmos, Gaillardia, Gourds, Hollyhock, African Marigold, French Marigold, Moonflower, Morning Glory, Nasturtium, Nicotiana, Petunia, Portulaca, Shasta Daisy, Sunflower, Verbena, Vinca and Zinnia.

Beans (green), Beets, Cabbage, Cantaloupe, Carrot, Celery, Chard, Sweet Corn, Kale, Kohlrabi, Lettuce, Melons, Okra, Onion, Parsley, Parsnip, Peas, Peppers, Pumpkin, Radish, Spinach, Summer and Winter Squash, Tomato, Turnip and Watermelon.

If you are interested in planning a vegetable garden, follow this checklist:

1. Choose a spot in full sun, not too far from the garden hose or the kitchen.

2. The best soil is friable loam with enough organic content to hold moisture and enough sand to drain well. The most important soil ingredient for successful plant growth, and also for easy maintenance, is humus. Adding humus will lighten heavy clay soil and improve drainage. Adding it to overly sandy soil will help retain needed moisture.

3. Mulch is the vegetable-grower's greatest work-saver. A thick mulch between rows and around the base of plants will prevent weed growth. Grass clippings, straw, peanut husks, wood chips or black polyurethane sheets will keep your weeding to a minimum. Mulch also helps the earth retain moisture by shading it from the sun.

4. Harvest when vegetables are young. This holds true for beans, squash, lettuce, the root crops (carrots and turnips for example), corn -- almost everything except tomatoes, which must be really red to be tasty.

5. Keep crops picked. Tomato plants, beans, most types of lettuce, squash and cucumbers will keep producing as long as their bounty is picked.

6. Harvest right before you are ready to cook. The moment they're picked is when vegetables' flavor is at its peak.

7. Water your garden deeply and occasionally (once a week), rather than in brief and infrequent applications.

One final rule of thumb: Don't be put off by procedural details. If you've prepared the soil properly, followed the seed package planting instructions and mulched heavily, Mother Nature will do the rest. Unless it rains regularly, you'll have to water, but the mulch will keep weeding to a minimum. All you need do for certain is keep up with your harvesting -- and figure out what to do with all those tomatoes!

Your Garden's Best Friend

The Nurseryman at your garden center is always happy to help you with expert advice and suggestions when you need them. He will call on his extensive background and technical knowledge to assure you of a garden that is a delight to you and your family, and the admiration of your neighborhood.

Wisteria vines should be pruned at the end of the spring blooming period or after new shoots have become two or three feet long.

Controlling Spring Pests

Plant health can be maintained most readily by following a regular program of spraying for pest control.

Right now, spray roses to control aphids and other pests but also to prevent powdery mildew from damaging the lush spring growth. This fungus damages and distorts foliage of roses, begonias and other plants.

Expect slugs and snails to be eating foliage and chewing on your seedlings. Ask your nurseryman for his recommended control.

It is preferable to apply sprays or dusts in the early morning or late afternoon when air is still. Thoroughly wet the underside of leaves as well as the tops.

Avoid application when temperature exceeds 85 degrees or in mid-day summer sunshine. Water alone may cause foliage burn under such circumstances. Soil around plants should be moist before spraying.

PICTURED ABOVE -- is the garden of Jack and Laurie Shepherd at 730 East Fourth Street in Ontario. Lettuce, corn, cabbage, beets, carrots, radishes, squash and tomato plants all in a 20 foot square.

Motivated by high prices, poor quality and tasteless produce, the city gardener has joined his country cousin in 'tilling the soil' and brought about today's vegetable turn-on.

started from seed, in separate 'flats' last January and kept inside the house until ready for transplant into the 20 by 20 plot behind the garage. "This is our third year as city farmers," says Jac, "but the time and effort we spend is minuscule when compared with the satisfaction and flavor of a 'truly fresh' vegetable."

The former manager of the Don Lugo Community Center in Chino was demoted one position and an assistant reduced 5 per cent in pay as a result of mismanagement of the now-disbanded work furlough center for about-to-be paroled prisoners.

Punitive action against the men was taken as an internal measure prior to the expected release next week of an Attorney-General's investigation into the entire work furlough program.

Edison Official Outlines Problems

A tendency by Americans to overreact in the present furor over ecology has brought Southern California face to face with a serious power shortage, Edward A. Myers Jr., vice president of Southern California Edison Company has asserted.

Myers, speaking at the 21st Annual San Bernardino - Riverside counties Business Outlook Conference, said "there's no stopping the growth of people." Consequently, he added, the demand for energy "in large amounts" will continue to expand.

Referring to his company, Myers said: "We're in the ecological game of tag. We're damned if we do build new facilities and we'll be damned if we don't."

Just as everyone has a major stake in cleaning up the environment, Myers said, "everyone has a personal responsibility to support prudent development of future energy supplies."

But even though a power crisis has been reached, he charged, all development is being blocked by one environmental group or another.

The Edison company, Myers said, plans to build a 1.5 million kilowatt oil and gas-fired generating plant at Fry Mountain near Barstow and Victorville in San Bernardino County.

He noted that the project would produce such widespread economic benefits as the expenditure of $4 million for construction, employment of about 700 skilled workers for about four years during construction and a large payroll and millions in taxes after construction.

Despite these benefits and the fact that the plant is "urgently needed," Myers said, "we're experiencing difficulty in getting the necessary permits to build."

He suggested that a "one-step approval plan" on both the state and federal levels be established to eliminate bottlenecks created by environmental and legislative groups that are holding up construction of vitally needed power generating facilities.

"Today," he pointed out, "there are 34 different authorities, any one of whom can say 'no' but all of whom must say 'yes' if we're to get permission to construct a power plant."

He described Proposition 9 as probably the most "insidious threat" to production of power in California today.

Myers contended the proposition, to be submitted to the voters in the June 5 primary election, is really "an economic undevelopment" initiative aimed at four groups: petroleum, transportation, agribusiness and utilities.

Section 16 of the proposition, he pointed out, would make it unlawful to build a nuclear-powered electric generating plant for the next five years.

"This would throw a king-sized monkey wrench in our power facilities plan," Myers said, delaying until the 1990s completion of any such plans.

He urged members of the audience to "read the full text of Proposition 9 to see if you can live with it. It contains 23 sections, most of which will have an adverse effect on you."

Public and private construction valued at between $5 and $10 billion, much of it involving electrical plants the nation must have to meet current power needs, is being held up by the action of environmentalists, Myers charged.

Warren Campbell, was transferred to the San Francisco area and reduced in rank from a Parole Agent 3 to a Parole Agent 2, it was learned from reliable sources.

The name of the parole agent was not immediately available.

One investigative report circulating among prison personnel and politicians indicates that the Don Lugo Center was loosely run and that there was de facto condoning use of contraband, such as beer and liquor.

The investigation was reportedly ordered by the Adult Authority after an inmate who was removed from the work furlough program alleged that he was intimidated into lending a parole agent $75, forced to use his own private car to transport other inmates without being compensated and told of unauthorized leaves and use of institution food.

The prisoner, Elroy Pena, made his allegations when he appeared March 2 for action before the Adult Authority after being removed from the program.

Pena stated that on one occasion he was allowed to travel to Huntington Beach to close an account at the Anaheim Savings and Loan Association Branch there, despite the fact that he was not within eight months of his parole date.

Prisoners who are within that time period were allowed to leave the institution on passes.

The prisoner stated that not only was he given permission to leave the center, but another prisoner was ordered to provide transportation.

A parole agent told investigators that Pena's account of the incident was substantially correct and that it was not unusual to allow prisoners to leave the center on their own for personal business.

Pena said that shortly before Christmas, 1971, he was taken to a Chino bank to cash some personal checks by a parole agent.

He said that the parole agent then asked Pena for a loan of $75 and the prisoner said that under the circumstances he felt he could not refuse the loan. He did say, however, that the loan was subsequently paid off by the parole agent.

The investigation revealed that a disciplinary memo had been put into the parole agent's file after he became aware of an investigation being made into the transaction and made disparaging remarks to another agent. Pena told investigators that on several occasions he had supplied transportation to work furloughes on the authorization of a parole agent.

He said the trips generally were made to assist the other members of the program seek employment.

Pena said he was never compensated for the use of his own auto and when he complained to one of the agents he was told that he would be compensated for "in other ways."

The prisoner also told the investigators there had been considerable use of alcoholic beverages at Don Lugo and that he volunteered to "police" the entrance area and the parking lot, picking up empty bottles and cans every morning starting about 4 a.m.

He said that one time he was called into the office to discuss the problem and was told by center officials that work crewmen from nearby Southern Conservation Center were complaining about the amount of bottles and cans in the trash.

Pena added that he was told to bury the liquor bottles and beer cans in sump holes at the rear of the Don Lugo living quarters.

The report contains information that when Don Lugo first opened, Campbell had requested that alcohol be allowed in the work furlough center but the request was not allowed by Director Ray Procunier because of its illegality.

Parole agents questioned by investigators about Pena's charges said that they had discussed the bottle and can problem with Pena and they described the prisoner as "a good worker (who) did a good job of separating trash from the bottles and cans."

A correctional supervisor told probers that on Thanksgiving Day, 1971, he had taken an open can of beer away from Pena in the Don Lugo mess hall, but no further action was taken against the prisoner because "this was not considered to be an unusual way to handle such a situation.

Pena said he was surprised at the action taken against him when he and another inmate were removed from the work furlough program and returned to California Institute for Men when they were caught drinking beer.

A copy of the investigative report had been delivered to the San Bernardino County Grand Jury which had been asked to make an investigation into the work furlough program by Assemblyman John Briggs of the 35th District.

The program came crashing down earlier this year after several criminal acts involving work furloughes. Two are accused of robbing and killing an Orange school teacher and another is suspected of committing several robberies while still in prison.

Man Didn't Move Forward Looking Backward

In 1915 for the first time it became possible to make a long distance telephone call between New York and San Francisco. When you could get through you paid $20.70 for a three-minute conversation.

Today you can pick up the telephone in New York and dial the number you want in San Francisco. Your immediate three-minute conversation will cost 70¢ on a weekend, 85¢ any evening, or $1.35 during week-days.

Just 45 years ago Charles A. Lindbergh became the first man to fly the Atlantic Ocean from America to Europe alone.

It took him 33 1/2 hours of totally dedicated effort.

Yesterday, if it was a typical day, hundreds of commercial jet aircraft flights carried thousands of people from continent to continent in a few hours of comfortable travel.

Some 14 years ago the Russians launched the first Earth satellite, and a few months later the United States put its first small satellite into orbit.

Today scores of satellites orbit the Earth and eight United States astronauts have walked on the moon and returned with material that will be invaluable to world scientists for years.

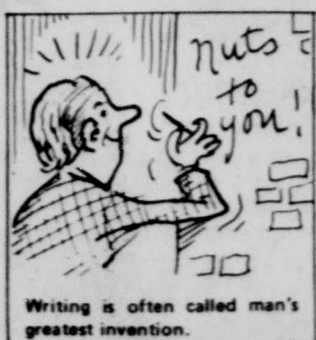

A few years ago tropical storms took hundreds - even thousands - of lives each year. Today the terror of such storms is reduced immeasurably by much more precise warning provided well in advance by weather satellites.

Recently millions of people around the world had ring-side seats for the 1972 Winter Olympics at Sapporo, Japan, and were absorbed in following the historical visit of the President of the United States to mainland China - all live and in color.

Soon a satellite will be bringing educational TV to millions of people who live in areas of India where no land lines of communication exist.

The list of benefits man has realized from space is almost endless. Today he stands on the threshold of great things not even imagined a few years ago.

At the beginning of 1972 President Nixon said: "... we have seen the tremendous potential of satellites for intercontinental communications and worldwide weather forecasting. We are gaining the capability to use satellites as tools in global monitoring and management of natural resources, in agricultural applications, and in pollution control. We can foresee their use in guiding airliners across the oceans and in bringing televised education to wide areas of the world. However, all these possibilities, and countless others with direct and dramatic bearing on human betterment, can never be more than fractionally realized so long as every single trip from Earth to orbit remains a matter of special effort and staggering expense. This is why commitment to the space shuttle program is the right next step for America to take, in moving out from our present beachhead in the sky to achieve a real working presence in space.

Airport Noise Draws Criticism

The Ontario Improvement Association is planning a class action lawsuit against the Los Angeles Department of Airports, owner of Ontario International Airport, as a result of the California Supreme Court decision handed down last Friday granting Santa Monica property owners the right to sue for damages.

Adrian Meewis, secretary-treasurer of the organization, said he was "very happy and excited" to hear of the ruling, opening a new avenue for citizens to protest against airport noise and air pollution.

"We plan to seek immediately a restraining order against all further expansion of the airport, and if we have to, we will start the proceedings for a class action lawsuit as soon as possible thereafter," Meewis said. He said the improvement association has only 20 paid members but represents more than 1,000 residents who live in Ontario south of Holt and in the unincorporated area between Ontario and Pomona.

The court held that property owners may sue cities on the grounds that city-owned airports constitute a public nuisance, reversing a Los Angeles County trial court's dismissal of a $125 million class action suit filed by 700 Santa Monica citizens.

The decision upheld the right of property owners to sue for damages from Superior Court rulings previously have disallowed suits on these grounds.

Meewis said the Ontario Improvement Association has been working since the arrival of the commercial jets in 1959 to establish environmental protection power over the Federal Aviation Administration in consideration of the people living in the flight pattern of the Ontario airport.

An attempt in 1966 to sue the city of Ontario because of the economic and environmental damage created by the airport was dropped "because we couldn't get enough money together," he said.

He charged that the Ontario representatives on the Los Angeles Board of Airport Commissioners have been unresponsive to the pleas of his organization.

The Ontario airport was merged with the Los Angeles Department of Airports in 1967.

Meewis said the big planes cause "deafness, mental illness and high blood pressure" to residents living near the flight patterns.

"The good, decent citizens of Ontario are moving out to get away from the airport," he said, referring to a 1969 report of the West Valley Planning Agency which predicted a $200 million loss in Ontario property values as a result of massive exodus of people from the rezoning of land from residential to industrial purposes.

"The airport is forcing Ontario to lose one-third of its residential area," he said.

"We have 200 homes in the 95-decibel sound area in Ontario. Our situation is particularly bad because the take-off area for planes is one mile from the center of the city," he added.

Building A Monster

The National Wildlife Federation has requested that the Federal Power Commission stop delaying its compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act.

In a motion filed with the Commission, the Federation asserted that "by delaying its compliance with the law the Commission is delaying power production for our country's needs. The record should be clear when the Commission is finally called to account that the Commission caused the delays in these applications and that it was urged by conservationists not to do so."

The controversy arises from the Commission's persistence in basing its decision to license power plants on the environmental assessment prepared by the applicant for the license.

As pointed out by the Federation in an earlier petition, the applicant can scarcely be expected to produce an unbiased analysis of the impact of the facility he proposes to operate. The law requires the agency itself, before it decides, to prepare the analysis.

The Federation first made this claim on December 20, 1971 when it petitioned the Commission to change its rules. On January 19, 1972 the Second Circuit Court of Appeals drew the same conclusion and declared the Commission's procedures unlawful.

Despite these strong indicators that its procedures are unlawful, the Commission has continued to let the applicants do its job. The Federation has counted eighteen different proceedings opened since February 24, 1972.

The real problem, notes the Federation, is that the Commission is building its own monster, for it will only have to go back later and conduct these same proceedings according to law. This will be costly to applicants and to taxpayers, and will cause delay in the ultimate production of power, delay which could be avoided now by complying with the law.

The Payroll Savings Plan helps you save some of your living for later.

Sure there are lots of things you want right now. Lots of things you need.

But, the sun's going to shine tomorrow, too.

That's why it's important you do something today to build a little nest egg for the future. And there's no easier way to do that than by joining the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. You sign up once and any amount you specify will be set aside from each paycheck and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

The Payroll Savings Plan. The perfect way to help your good life stay that way.

Now E Bonds pay 5 1/4% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

WITH THE RETURN TO PACIFIC DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME -- Showings of the internationally-famed "Last Supper Window" at Forest Lawn Memorial Park in Glendale have been rescheduled to begin on the hour from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., seven days a week.

The window, which measures 30 by 15 feet, has been seen by an estimated 50 million visitors during 20 minute admission-free showings since its completion in 1931.

A unique stained glass recreation of Leonardo da Vinci's "The Last Supper," it has been permanently imbued, according to art experts, with color shadings and details long since eroded from the original tempera-painted masterpiece in the convent of Santa Marie delle Grazie, Milan, Italy.

The "Last Supper Window" is located in the Memorial Court of Honor within Forest Lawn at 1712 South Glendale Avenue.

ONE OF THE BENEFITS -- of being Miss Ontario Motor Speedway is the chance to see the Indianapolis 500, Debby Presto will be on hand to help Elaine Scher, Miss Indy, reign over the event in Indiana on May 27. Applications for the 1972-73 contest for Miss OMS now are being accepted by the Ontario Chamber of Commerce. Data concerning the contest is being circulated by area high schools and colleges and advertising and modeling agencies.

Assembly Augments Silverwood Funds

The Assembly Ways and Means Committee has approved legislation by San Bernardino County Assemblyman Jerry Lewis which would insure a $305,000 augmentation to the Governor's budget for Silverwood Lake.

The bill, AB 1650, authorizes the State Department of Parks and Recreation to supervise operation and development of recreational facilities from May 25, 1972, and provides additional funding extending through the '72-'73 fiscal year.

"I've been fighting for guarantees that money will be available to provide needed services for the thousands of recreation-seeking Californians who will descend on Silverwood in the coming 18 months," Lewis said.

"Governor Reagan has now assured me of his support for the funding included in AB 1650, and that pretty well puts a cap on the guarantees we need.

The $305,000 will be applied to the cost of interim-use facilities so that the public will be able to enjoy Silverwood Lake while it is filling to ideal water capacity levels.

"As water flows into the lake, more and more citizens are showing up at Silverwood," said Lewis. There is a critical need to prepare necessary facilities or the lake will be nothing more than an instant disaster area.

"Temporary sanitation facilities are a must. Interim facilities will include 475 acres of lake surface with a parking and lake capacity of 110 boats. There will be shore line beaches as well as boat launch areas and picnic sites," Lewis stated.

Permanent development plans beginning with the opening of Saw Pit Canyon in March of 1973, include five major recreation areas around the reservoir: Saw Pit Canyon, Clegg Horn, Miller Canyon, West Fork and Lower Mesa. There will also be three boat-inn areas with a capacity for 300 boats. There will be 195 parking spaces available for 300 boats. There will be 195 parking spaces available for cars and boats, approximately 150 overnight campsites, and 1,000 day-use picnic sites. The estimated peak capacity per day is 13,000 visitors and the minimum annual attendance projection is 1.5 million people.

"The $305,000 augmentation that will be a part of the '72-'73 budget will begin to produce revenue almost immediately," Lewis said.

It is anticipated that minimum revenues from visitor use will stimulate $20,000 during the balance of the 1972 calendar year and create a flow of well over $200,000 in 1972. I am convinced that the Department of Parks and Recreation projections of recreation visitors to Silverwood Lake from Southern California are way under target.

Dr. Freud, They Need You At The Zoo

It's tough enough to be an orangutan in the first place; even tougher if you don't know you're an orang, and nobody's told you how one is expected to behave.

Jonathan Orangutan, the Los Angeles Zoo's two-year-old pampered star of the Baby Animal Nursery, is suffering an identity crisis this week.

Zoo-born and hand-raised by nursery attendants and keepers, Jonathan has been the animated center of everyone's attention since he was a wriggling, red-haired infant, swigging milk from a bottle, crawling crab-like around a playpen, or swinging from a rope hand and footfuls of celery and apples.

So Jonathan was in for a surprise last week when keepers moved him to a cage in the Main Zoo with two self-assured three-year-olds, Wilhelmina Chimpanzee and Eloise Orangutan.

Jonathan didn't know that there's a Boss in every Zoo Group, one who eats first and gives the orders. But Wilhelmina knew. She was IT. And she wasn't a bit impressed by Jonathan's former child-star status. She slugged him.

Now Wilhelmina is having an identity crisis.

Four-Day Work Week Denied

A second experiment with the four-day work week in county government was denied by the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors last week.

Supervisors concluded that the five clerks involved in the district attorney's child support division can do their work just as well on the regular five-day schedule.

They decided that improved service to the public, which has justified the current four-day work week experiment in the Probation Department's Ontario branch office, had not been substantiated in connection with the child support division's request.

S. Ayala said granting of the one request would lead to many others from throughout the county. He said, "If this is the beginning of something we may be sorry we ever started it."

Administrative Officer Robert A. Covington said the idea was that a five-member clerical team, by working 10 hours a day four days a week, would be better able to get its paperwork done if it could utilize hours during which the division office is closed to the public.

The board chairman noted that in the case of the Probation Department's Ontario office, the 20 employees on four-day schedules are able to handle more interviews with probationers because they remain on duty an hour after the previous 5 p.m. closing time in addition to starting each day an hour earlier.

Probation Officer Stewart C. Smith recently reported that his Ontario office, which has a total of 33 employees, has shown improvements in both the public service and paperwork processing areas during the first six months of the experiment here.

County VD Program Under Fire by Doctor

At a news conference held earlier this spring, a Los Angeles County Health Officer spokesman reported that the department's venereal disease program is "one of the best in the nation."

The meeting was called to answer charges that the Health Department's preventive aspects of VD control were questionable.

The charges were made by Dr. Walter Smartt at a recent California Medical Association conference in San Francisco.

"I have not had an opportunity to talk to Dr. Smartt since he spoke in San Francisco," Dr. Heidebreder said. "If Dr. Smartt made the statements attributed to him, he certainly is not speaking for the department, and I strongly disagree with his conclusions. That is the reason I called the press conference."

The Los Angeles County Health Department's venereal disease control program is based on case-finding, case holding, treatment and prevention.

The Health Officer said that he cannot accept the belief expressed by Dr. Smartt that the present 2.25 million dollar treatment program should be eliminated by using the money totally for a prevention program.

"Treatment is part of prevention," Dr. Heidebreder pointed out. "If a person is ill, he must be treated, or the person involved continues to be part of the communicable VD pool."

The Health Officer said that in addition to treatment, the Health Department has a strong VD prevention program.

"I do want to point out that there is no ideal treatment for venereal disease, and at the same time there is no ideal prevention," Dr. Heidebreder said. He pointed out that the Health Department, as is true in all similar programs throughout the nation, must rely upon the use of public health tools effective to the particular disease in the control of communicable illnesses.

Summer School Applications Available

Applications are due Friday, May 12, for the California State Polytechnic College, Kellogg-Voorhis, Pomona Summer Visitor Program which makes it easy for any California State College (CSC) student to attend its summer quarter of classes.

Under the unique program, all a CSC student must do to attend Cal Poly, Pomona's summer quarter is submit a one-page visitor's application and be in good academic standing at his resident state college. Formal admission and application fees are not required.

Visitor applications for Cal Poly, Pomona may be obtained from the admissions office of any state college for the summer quarter of classes which begins Monday, July 3.

Cal Poly offers 48 undergraduate and more than 10 graduate programs through its graduate division and the six schools of the college: agriculture, arts, business administration, engineering, environmental design, and science. All schools but environmental design are accepting summer visitor and regular students.

Among the summer courses available will be English, modern languages, drama, art, music, communication arts, political science, social services, history, economics, social sciences, physical education, sociology, psychology, mathematics, science, agriculture, business, and management.

Two study centers of the college, one for Black studies and one for Chicano and American Indian studies, provide an opportunity for all students, summer and continuing, to gain a better understanding of the history, culture, contemporary role, political aspiration and desires of the Black, Chicano and Indian.

In addition to the six schools, the graduate program, and the study centers, the college's Teacher Preparation Center coordinates 21 teaching majors and 31 teaching minors through its standard teaching credential programs for elementary and secondary candidates.

Cal Poly, Pomona is accredited by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges, and its various curricula have won independent accreditation from the Engineers' Council for Professional Development, the American Society of Landscape Architects, The American Institute of Planners, and the American Chemical Society.

Any person wishing more information about the summer visitor program may call (714) 598-4294.

PRETTY SWEET DEADLY

At this time of year when people become "garden conscious" the Humane Society of Pomona Valley would like to caution the pet-owning public to be aware that there are certain insecticides and plants (indoors & outdoors) that can and have proven to be fatal to animals after consumption.

One Veterinarian in Pomona has already treated several pets for sickness after they ate toxic insecticides and poisonous plants.

One of the most deadly insecticides to animals is snail bait. Fertilizers should be selected most carefully; they too can contain harmful poisons to pets and birds.

Pet owners should keep their pets away from such plants as Poinsettia leaves, Oleanders, Mistletoe berries, Philodendron (leaves shaped like elephant ears), pine needles are very dangerous to cats, Foxgloves leaves and Jimson Weed (Stinkweed). Of course all plants that grow wild in an unproductive field are usually found to be harmful to pets.

Household pets, even if well fed ones will chew on plant leaves that flutter in the breeze. To discourage yard moles from damaging your lawn, invest in a few decorative garden windmills, as the wind blows and turns the windmills it creates a vibration six inches into the ground. This is a way to chase them out of your yard, and not resort to poisons or other dangerous methods attempting to solve the problem.

College News

Cal-Poly

California State Polytechnic College, Kellogg-Voorhis, Pomona, is planning to feed over 15,000 persons expected for the 30th annual Poly Vue Saturday and Sunday, May 13 and 14.

Pancakes, sausages, orange juice, and coffee are on the menu for the Saturday morning pancake breakfast from 7 a.m. to 10 a.m. in the campus center student cafeteria. Prices for the breakfast are $1 per person and 85 cents for students and children under 12.

San Gabriel Valley square dance clubs and caller, Harold Nicholas, will entertain at the annual Poly Vue barbecue Saturday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Cal Poly Rose Garden.

The menu includes deep pit barbecued beef, coleslaw, baked beans, bread and butter, punch and coffee, and ice creams. Prices are $2.50 for adults and $1.75 for children under 12.

Foods from international to hot dogs will be sold at the Poly Vue carnival, 4 p.m. to 11 p.m., in the Cal Poly tennis courts.

Most schools and departments offering Saturday open houses will serve visitors light refreshments.

The College Flying Club is planning a "spectacular" for the open house, featuring the Bailey Bitty Bipe, a one-of-a-kind, bi-wing plane.

The club will land the biwing and six other light aircraft on campus Thursday, May 11 from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. These will be on display for the public in the college quad during Poly Vue weekend.

Cal Poly Amateur Radio Club members will provide communications to the pilots between Brackett Field, Pomona, where the planes will take-off and Cal Poly's South Campus Drive, where they will land.

Flying Club members will sleep with the planes to guard them at night.

During the day representatives of aircraft companies will be on hand to answer questions and distribute information on each aircraft. Airplanes on display will include a Cessna 180, Piper 140, Beechcraft Bonanza, Cessna 150, Cessna Cardinal and the Bailey Bitty Bipe.

The West of Charles Russell, the self taught artist who lived and painted the excitement and hardship of a cowboy's life in the Old West, will be shown Tuesday, April 25 at 7:30 p.m. in the College music building, room 101.

The documentary, sponsored by the Los Angeles County Natural History Museum, in cooperation with the Associated Students of Cal Poly, is open to the public free of charge.

Russell felt the crush of settlers was ruining the beauty of the primitive country in which he had chosen to live. In this sentiment, he caught the scenes and spirit of a dying era and gave it immortality in his paintings.

A 10-day aerospace and aviation education workshop for teachers will be offered by the College extension program Monday through Fridays, 1 p.m. The workshop, sponsored by the Cal Poly Teacher Preparation Center, offers four units of college credit; registration fee is $69.

According to Paul F. Weisend, workshop director and Cal Poly associate professor of business management, the purpose of the workshop is to acquaint elementary, secondary and junior college teachers with the trends, problems and challenges of the aerospace age.

The workshop will focus on civil and commercial aviation, space technology and exploration, and the relationship of these fields to education. There will also be special emphasis placed on women's role in aviation and space exploration.

Cal Poly will serve as one of the 127 examination centers for the annual Certified Professional Secretary (CPS) Examination to be given Friday and Saturday, May 5 and 6, in the engineering building, room 201.

Mrs. Katherine B. Seibert, associate professor of business management, is Cal Poly coordinator for the two-day, six-part examination which about 2400 secretaries throughout the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico are scheduled to take.

Mt. San Antonio

A Mt. San Antonio College student, Eddie Lee, a sophomore from West Covina, has been named the South Coast Conference Wrestler of the Year.

Conference Commissioner, Frank O. Hopkins announced Lee's selection last week.

The 5'6" Lee finished the season with 54-0-2 record. In addition, he was the State Champion at 118 and captained Coach Fred Burri's Mounties the past two seasons. Lee also was the Champion of his weight in the Pierce, Fullerton State and Fresno State wrestling tournaments.

Applications currently are being accepted for students who wish to major in Psychiatric Technology. The three-semester course leading to a certificate of completion is open to all high school graduates and those who have passed the GED examination or its equivalent.

Students wanting to earn an Associate in Science in this field may do so by taking additional courses to satisfy MSAC graduation requirements.

Completion of the psychiatric technician program qualified a student to take the State Board examination for licensure. Employment opportunities exist in many facilities in the local area as well as throughout the state and nation.

Course work at the MSAC campus covers anatomy and physiology, mental health and mental retardation, medication for psychiatric technology, psychology of human relations, basic concepts of nursing, and nursing science.

Students also gain valuable experience by working with professionals in local private and public clinical facilities such as hospitals and schools for mentally retarded.

Governor Proposes Drug Reform

Governor Ronald Reagan, in an apparent relaxation of his hard line on drugs, has proposed reform legislation to spare first-time narcotics offenders from jail and give him a second chance. The provision is a key feature of a massive $14 million program the Republican chief executive sent to the legislature last week. It is designed to roll back the California drug crisis through intensified prevention, treatment and rehabilitation. "This does not mean we are becoming soft on drug offenders," the governor said. "We will continue to exert every effort to punish the pusher and take the profit out of drugs." But we must prevent addiction whenever possible and this can't be done simply by sending the first offender to jail or putting him on probation and allowing him to go back on the streets again with no community help." Reagan announced his "Comprehensive Narcotics and Drug Abuse Program of 1972" in a special nine-page message to the legislature and in a privately-financed statewide broadcast carried by 38 television and radio stations.

Under the proposal, the first-time user or possessor of narcotics would be "diverted" out of the criminal justice system by a judge prior to court arraignment and into a community operated drug abuse education, information, treatment or rehabilitation program. To be eligible, the offender must not have had any prior drug record and must have been "nonviolent." With the prosecutor's consent, the judge could sentence the first time offender to a local program for six to 24 months and his criminal record would be wiped clean.

"If he is rearrested, he has blown his second chance," remarked Edwin Meese, the governor's executive secretary. Reagan's legal adviser, Herb Ellingwood, told newsmen, "What we are doing is showing compassion where we believe there is a chance for success."

Meese denied there was any connection between submission now of the governor's program and a proposed ballot initiative that would remove all criminal penalties and civil liabilities from the personal use of marijuana. The first offender provision was regarded by some as Reagan's compromise offer to legislation pending on the Assembly floor that would reduce the penalty for possession of marijuana from a felony to a misdemeanor. Reagan opposes both the initiative and the bill.

Grave Vandals Hit Cemetery

Another grave has been dug up in the old Spadra cemetery in Pomona. Pomona Valley Historical Society member, Alvin B. Fages, reported the vandalism Sunday. Police said someone dug up one grave and began to dig up another before quitting. They also used a truck to knock down a metal gate. It was uncertain if the remains had been removed from the grave.

The cemetery is burial place for many pioneers of the Pomona Valley and has been vandalized frequently during the past few years. It is in a secluded area off of Valley Boulevard on the west side of the city.

Casa Colina To Provide More Services

New provisions in Medi-Cal regulations for disabled patients allow Casa Colina Hospital for Habilitative Medicine provide more outpatient services than here permitted, according to hospital administration.

Richard T. Moore, Medi-Cal has classified Casa Colina as a comprehensive rehabilitation center, permitting eligible patients to make more than two visits per month. As a certified and accredited acute hospital, Casa Colina has long qualified for inpatient Medi-Cal services, but, Moore says, "until this new ruling was effected, those who needed extensive therapy on an outpatient basis could not get it. Now we will be able to provide both inpatient and outpatient treatment for Medi-Cal patients." The new regulations permit physicians to refer patients to the hospital's outpatient department for such services as physical, occupational, and hydrotherapies, psychological and rehabilitation counseling, disabled driver training, audiology and speech therapy, stroke evaluation and treatment, electromyography, electrocardiography, cardiac work, evaluation and reconditioning, prosthetics and orthotics, and associated laboratory or X-ray work.

Referrals are also acceptable under Medi-Cal provisions to any of the clinics regularly held at Casa Colina for Arthritis, Brace, Muscular Dystrophy, Orthopedics, and Rehabilitation Medicine.

County Tax Money Distributed

Distribution in San Bernardino County of some $7.5 million in state tax revenues has been announced by State Controller Houston L. Flournoy.

Largest distribution was of $5,897,304.49 of state-collected "in lieu" motor vehicle license fees accumulated between Dec. 1, 1971, and Mar. 31, 1972, with $3,339,707.80 of the money going to the county and $2,557,596.69 to its cities.

The county received $897,578.62 and the cities $409,682.38, for a total of $1,307,261, from the Highway Users Tax Fund, and a total of $200,727.96 in cigarette tax monies, with the county getting a $156,676.44 share, were distributed.

The "in lieu" vehicle license apportionment is the last multi-monthly distribution that will be made, Senator Coombs explained, pointing out that new legislation requires future distributions to be made monthly instead of three times each fiscal year.

Money in the fund is accumulated from the State excise tax of $2 per $100 of market value, which is levied in place of local property taxes on motor vehicles. Revenues collected in this manner are returned to local governments for general purpose use.

The motor vehicle license fees distributed were part of a total distribution of $195,733,353 to the State's 58 counties and the cities.

Statewide distribution of highway users taxes was $184,287,352, of $23,009,977 went to the 58 counties; $17,220,342 was allocated to cities, and $144,057,033 was spent on State Highways.

The total apportionment came from $103,720,422 in gasoline taxes, up $51,245,678 over the previous month; $3,869,955 in diesel fuel taxes, down $7,282 below March, and $75,000,000 in the Motor Vehicle Fund, which was all gain over March since there was no transfer in that month.

The Flournoy report showed the total distribution of the Highway Users Tax Fund was $122,224,855 greater than for April 1971.

Amounts received by the San Bernardino County cities from the Highway Users, Cigarette Tax and Motor Vehicle "in lieu" funds, respectively, were:

Adelanto, $2,780.05; $600.43; $14,993.78; Barstow, $18,475.81; $6,273.20; $113,872.85; Chino, $21,694.67; $6,236.06; $134,151.58; Colton, $20,852.70; $6,905.07; $128,847.91; Fontana, $22,883.21; $7,983.06; $141,639.11; Loma Linda, $11,967.46; $2,777.36; $72,872.38; Montclair, $22,730.68; $12,397.15; $140,678.21; Needles, $4,533.13; $1,550.91; $26,050.36; Ontario, $65,274.45; $21,907.78; $408,694.34; Redlands, $36,947.60; $12,138.44; $230,241.54; Rialto, $30,460.15; $8,897.05; $189,372.11; San Bernardino, $104,348.37; $53,017.76; $666,820.69; Upland, $34,917.17; $10,130.66; $217,450.35, and Victorville, $11,814.94; $5,861.51; $71,911.48.

TAX RATE CLIMBS DESPITE WELFARE DIP

County officials are wrestling with a contradiction - a report that welfare costs may be lowering and a prospect that taxes may be increasing sharply. The incongruity arose as the County Board of Supervisors conducted work sessions last week on a proposed $178 million budget.

Probably the only good news was the estimate by Welfare Director George H. Jeffery that welfare expenditures will decline.

Jeffery projected that federal-state-county payment budgeted for welfare next year will decline from $73.6 million to $65.8 million.

Despite the persistence of high unemployment, Jeffery attributed the decline to a "healthy economy" rather than to state reforms passed last year. This is so, he contended later, because some of the vital reforms still are hung up in litigation.

The county's share of the total welfare payments, Jeffery projected, will decline by about $659,000 to $9.8 million and the county share of the $9.2 million administrative costs will amount to about $1.2 million, a decrease of about $619,000.

Total expenditures recommended by the county staff for all departments are approximately $5.3 million higher than expenditures of the current fiscal year.

These increases will produce a higher property tax rate, the board was told, while factors tending to hold down the budget are a result of gradual decline in state and federal funds flowing into the welfare program.

It's too early to estimate a 1972-73 tax rate, administrative analyst Robert Russell said, because a number of factors are unknown. He indicated, however, that a sizeable increase is inevitable in the current rate of $3 per $100 of assessed valuation. He pointed out that proposed salary increases which could cost at least another $2.5 million were not included in the $178 million total.

Department heads are asking for an addition of 604 employees, but the administrative office is recommending the addition of only 227, which would boost the county's work force to approximately 7,000.

Other factors that will expand the budget include a proposed increase of $300,000 in the county share of the County General Hospital's Medi-Cal program, $710,000 for personnel and equipment to convert desert burning dumps to cut-and-fill operations and $628,000 to increase the county sheriff's enforcement and jail staffs.

It was also revealed that the Welfare Department plans to initiate shortly a $500,000-a-year program to provide day care for children of working mothers with low incomes. The objective would be to keep these mothers off welfare rolls or to reduce their assistance.

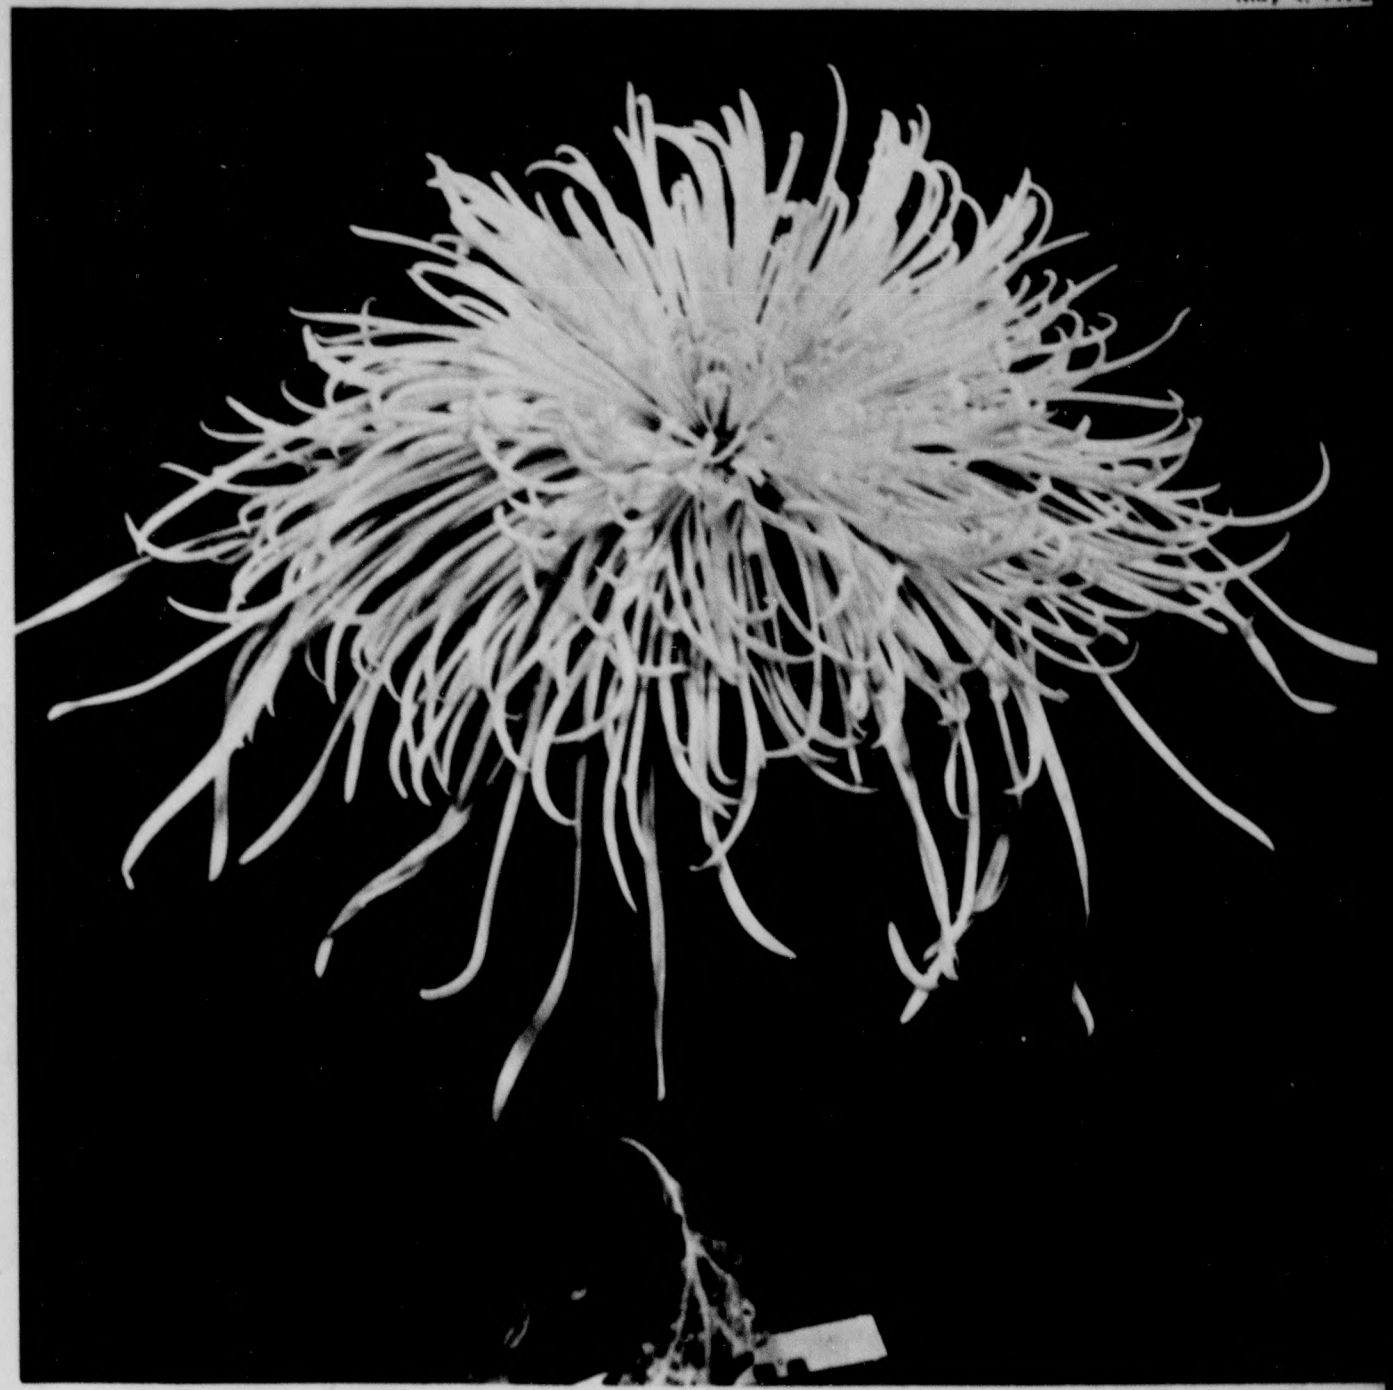

The county's share of this program, made possible by recent state legislation, would be about $40,000.

Nine Blocks- All For Art

The City of Pomona is planning its own kind of protest against municipal drabness by converting its Downtown Pedestrian Mall into a nine-block-long gallery for professional and amateur artists and junior and senior high school and college art students.

Drew Dobosh, coordinator of what the city hopes will become an annual art colony festival, said today that more than 500 artists are expected to take part in the show, all day, Saturday, May 6.

Paintings will be assigned Mall locations on a first-come, first-served basis by the Pomona Valley Art Association, co-sponsor of the festival. Artists may call in person at its headquarters, 112 Pomona Mall East, or phone (714) 622-9967.

NURSERIES -- have small Chrysanthemum plants to set-out now, which will provide a carnival of color later this year. The many glorious colors and myriad flower forms make shopping for 'Mums a fun, and enlightening experience. There are varieties which resemble daisies, wee buttons and pom-poms, decoratives and the large exhibition-types--plus unique Spider varieties, such as illustrated here. The plants require little attention, in comparison to the beauty and enjoyment they provide.

EVERY DOLLAR YOU SAVE IS A BOOST TO THE ECONOMY

Some people would have you believe that saving money is a disservice to the economy of this country. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Your money is loaned out to build new homes and churches and shopping centers, and low-cost multiple dwellings.

And that means jobs. Jobs for carpenters, bricklayers, plumbers, road-builders, painters and a host of other occupations. Jobs for the people who cut the timber, make the bricks, manufacture the plumbing materials and paint.

The list is endless. It goes on and on. Your savings working to build the economy while they are building for your future.

It has been estimated that every dollar provided by a Savings and Loan creates four dollars of new economic activity. As a result, the $38 billion we loaned in mortgages last year generated $152 billion in the economy.

Do something good for yourself. Open an account at a Savings and Loan Association. We'll put your money to work—for you and for the country.

United Cerebral Palsy

Some kids shoot up heroin—and die. Many kids don't get their shots against measles and German measles—and risk being crippled for life.

The after-effects of measles can leave a child with serious brain damage. German measles doesn't endanger children, but it's so contagious that it can cause an expectant mother to bear a child with cerebral palsy, heart damage or other crippling defects.

The two vaccines are safe, effective and easy to get from your doctor or local health department.

The trouble is—not enough kids are receiving these drugs. And tragedies are still taking place.

United Cerebral Palsy provides treatment and training for thousands of handicapped people of all ages. Some carry the effects of measles and German measles for life.

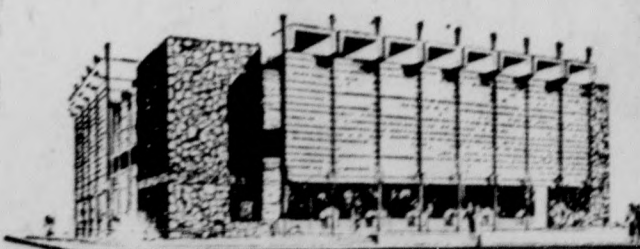

You can do two things to help:

1. Make sure your kids get their shots against measles and German measles. Then, get after everyone you know to do the same for their kids.
2. Do what you can to help us meet the needs of persons with cerebral palsy—and continue the research to keep it from happening.

"Viva Mexico" Fiesta At Disneyland

Colorful parades, singing, dancing, mariachi groups and more than 150 talented Mexican-American entertainers are scheduled for this week-end's "Viva Mexico" celebration at Disneyland. Set for Saturday and Sunday (May 6-7), the annual fiesta is staged as a tribute to Mexico's biggest holiday, Cinco de Mayo.

Attention will be focused on Tomorrowland Stage at 1, 3 and 5 p.m. where Pedro Rey, Santa Oviedo, Hugo Avendano and Henry Darro hail their native Mexico in both music and song. Avendano and Miss Oviedo come to the Park from Mexico City where they rank as two of Latin America's most sought-after vocalists. Darro starred as Manolito in the popular television series, "High Chaparral."

Ranchero singer Rey and the Los Camperos Mariachi Band will add their south-of-the-border musical virtuosity to the Tomorrowland Stage "Saludos Amigos" presentations.

You'll manage. Now E Bonds pay 5 1/2% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months 4" the first year. Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America. Buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

If you can't manage now, how are you going to manage later?

Money's tight. You feel pretty lucky if you can stretch your paycheck enough to meet all the everyday expenses. It's harder than ever to save a buck. And how are you going to take care of the future, when you've got enough trouble just taking care of the present?

But, you can manage to save—by joining the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. It's a sure way to get started on a nest egg that you can depend on in the future.

The amount you designate will be automatically set aside from your paycheck and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds, before you get your check, and before you can spend it. So, join the Payroll Savings Plan and start on your "secret stash" today. And then just relax and don't worry about tomorrow.

Enlightened Programs Reduce Crime

"The latest FBI crime statistics," according to Kenneth E. Kirkpatrick, president of the California Probation, Parole and Correctional Association, "show that California's enlightened correctional programs are contributing to the reduction of crime and delinquency."

Rather than being a threat to the community,

Kirkpatrick said, the intensive supervision and treatment of offenders in community treatment programs contribute to a better record for cities here than in other parts of the country. FBI figures show that cities over one million population, for example, had an increase of 17 percent in murder, as compared to Los Angeles' increase of only 8 percent and San Francisco's decrease of 8 percent.

Kirkpatrick noted that the FBI's 1971 preliminary release on Uniform Crime Reporting shows increases in violent crime of 10 percent for cities over 1 million, and 13 percent for suburban areas. But California's major metropolitan areas registered increases of about half that amount in violent crimes, 5 percent for Los Angeles and San Diego and 7 percent for San Francisco.

"The monumental study of California's correctional system recently completed under the sponsorship of the California Board of Corrections," Kirkpatrick said, "recommends expansion of community treatment programs such as the special intensive supervision programs being funded by the state's probation subsidy program."

(The state pays counties about $4000 a year for each offender selected for the subsidy program. Intensive supervision is provided within the community instead of sending the offender to prison or other correctional institutions.)

The recommendations of this report will provide the subject matter for discussion at the California Probation, Parole and Correctional Association institute to be held in Los Angeles on May 24-26, 1972.

"We now have hard evidence that these probation programs and other progressive changes in corrections," he concluded, "are not contributing to increased crime or creating a threat to the citizens of California."

"The FBI statistics substantiate that the threat to citizens from crime and criminals is even greater in other states, where more offenders are needlessly committed to expensive prison programs while taxpayers support them and their families on welfare."

POW/MIA TRIBUTE SLATED

"100,000 IN MAY," a special Memorial Day salute to all servicemen and women, Prisoners of War, and Men Missing In Action is Southeast Asia, will be held the evening of May 29th in Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

Realizing the need for grassroots action involving the total community, this patriotic pageant, first of its kind in the nation, was planned to focus worldwide attention on the plight of POWs and MIAs. Co-chairman Emmett Cronan and Stuart F. Nelson spearheaded the program of taped family greetings to POWs, delivering these tapes last Christmas Eve to the North Vietnamese Embassy in Paris. Historically it has been proven that our adversaries will respond to public opinions and efforts accomplished in large numbers. (Evidence the nationwide letter writing campaign resulting in the release of pictures of POWs.)

American feelings about our role in the Vietnam conflict are divided, but one thing all Americans surely agree on is this: American men missing or held captive deserve to be treated with dignity and compassion. "100,000 IN MAY" was conceived in hope that this project of concern will inspire resultant humanitarian acts.

This event is endorsed by the L.A. County Board of Supervisors and is co-sponsored by the Coliseum Commission, comprised of state, county, and city representatives, and the VFW, DAV, and AM-VETS.

This program, convening more than 100,000 concerned citizens, will honor the men who have gone before, those who are currently fighting in foreign lands, and an affirmation of faith that ALL Americans are concerned about the men who are there that we cannot reach.

Busing

Residential isolation of minority groups in urban areas including Pomona may not be cause for full scale busing programs to achieve school desegregation.

This conclusion was drawn in a Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) study that stated minority group community isolation "is not quite as serious a barrier to school desegregation as has usually been assumed."

The report, conducted for HEW by the Lambda Corp. of Arlington, Va., dealt only with "demographic and geo-graphic" barriers to school integration in 29 urban areas, including many of the nation's major cities.

The Pomona Unified School District was in-cluded in the study be-cause it is representa-tive of smaller districts with multi-ethnic enroll-ment, according to Rep. Charles Wiggins, R-25th Dist.

The report drew no conclusions on individual district situations, but generally concluded from an overall analysis that "even in the largest cities analyzed" almost com-plete desegregation can take place "without ex-ceeding practical limits for student travel time or economically reason-able limits on the number of students bused."

According to the re-port, "very substantial decreases in racial isolation" can take place "without transporting any students who could other-wise walk to school" in many districts.

No integration advan-tage is achieved by bus-ing more than 33 per cent of students, said the re-port.

The study is based on the assumption that stu-dents should be held to a 35-minute travel limit when bused.

Information for the study was drawn from the 1970 census enrollment data provided by the U.S. Office of Education and local regional transpor-tation planning council.

Protect Your Pets; Get Them Vaccinated

County wide rabies im-munization clinics have been set for all popula-tion centers according to Dr. R. A. Jackson, Pub-lic Health Veterinarian with the San Bernardino County Department of Public Health.

Private practicing veter-inarians and the San Bernardino County Health Department are spon-soring these clinics. Pets may be licensed at $4 each and vaccinated at the re-duced clinic rate of $2 for both males and fe-males.

Rabies continues to be a serious public health menace. The threat of a rabies outbreak in San Bernardino County is continually before us, since a significant pro-portion of our dog pop-ulation (about 25%) is un-vaccinated.

Rabies can be pre-vented by building im-munity in your dog through the safe and sim-ple and effective vacci-nation.

This is your opportu-nity to protect your dog, family and community - have him vaccinated now! It is required by law to have your dog licensed each year and vaccinated every second year.

Low cost vaccinations will be given at: the Fire Station, Amethyst and Lomita, Alta Loma (May 9, 9 a.m. - noon), Alta Loma High School, 8880 Baseline (May 10, 5:30 - 7:30 p.m.) and at the Cucamonga School, 8677 Archibald (May 16, 6 - 8 p.m.)

Dog owners are urged to vaccinate and license now to avoid high costs and penalties that go into effect August 1. License costs will be raised to $5 and vaccination costs also will be increased to $6 after the first of Aug-ust.

Statewide of the 321 cases of animal rabies reported during 1969, 95% occurred in the wildlife population, 241 cases were reported in skunks and 46 in bats. Contacts between dogs and rabid wildlife can easily occur in our county. Because of the public's coopera-

Upland Area Threatened

Citrus Disease Still Problem

Diseases that have killed or made worthless millions of California cit-rus trees still pose a major threat to Upland area citrus groves, ac-cording to plant disease experts.

The three major dis-ease threats to Califor-nia and world citrus to-day are tristeza, stubborn and phytophthora fungi-caused diseases.

Dr. Calavan reported that decline from tristeza in orchards was more severe last year in Ven-tura County than in pre-vious years. The virus disease also is spread-ing in San Diego County. The UCR plant pathologist said that trees infected with tristeza have been detected in most citrus -growing areas of the county.

Dr. Calavan, However, ne added, tender young trees in the nursery and young orchards are highly sus-ceptible to infection and should be replaced as soon as they are conspic-uously infected by stub-born.

Dick Puffer, San Ber-nardino County Farm Ad-visor for Citrus, said,

"The most serious dis-ease in the Upland area is phytophthora be-cause it affects the roots of most of the trees in the area. It is very wide-spread. It attacks almost all of the older trees."

Turning to stubborn disease, the plant path-ologist said he believes there are as many as two million California cit-rus trees that have been made worthless by its pathogen. Stubborn is caused by a mycoplasma - like organ-ism, much larger in size than viruses but smaller than most bacteria.

"More research is ur-gently needed on the biol-ogy of the stubborn path-ogen, its insect vectors, noncitrus plant hosts, and its inactivation or inhibi-tion by physical and chemical treatments," Dr. Calavan said.

Dr. Calavan explained that stubborn disease is difficult to diagnose, re-gardless of the detection system used, because of its uneven distribution in trees. Research results to date indicate that stub-born disease is probably being transmitted to cit-rus trees in some instan-ces from non-citrus plant species by vectors (car-riers) of the disease.

On the brighter side, he reported that citrus grower organizations and the California Depart-ment of Agriculture con-tinued to make good pro-gress in tristeza suppres-sion last year in the San Joaquin and Coachella valleys.

"The presence of large numbers of stubborn trees -- from 50 to 100 per cent -- in some young orchards, in Riverside County and in other coun-ties, may be due mainly to natural spread by vec-tors," Dr. Calavan said. These vectors or disease carriers are believed to be insects.

Dr. L.J. Klotz, UCR plant pathologist, emeritus, noted that growers still must deal with gum diseases, some of which can reduce fruit produc-tion even more rapidly than tristeza or stubborn. The most serious of these is brown rot gummosis, caused by phytophthora fungi which attack cit-rus trees above and below the ground.

"Phytophthora causes reduced production. It causes the whole tree to go into a decline and even-tually there is virtually no production. It doesn't kill the tree but makes it worthless."

"Phytophthora can hit fairly young trees and they never come into pro-duction but it is found mainly in older trees. We don't have all the an-swers on this disease like we do on some diseases. Overwatering often causes phytophthora. Too much water helps it to spread."

Dr. E. C. Calavan, University of California, Riverside plant pathol-ogist, said, "Tristeza, which has killed more than a million California citrus trees during the past 30 years, is on the rise in scattered loca-tions within the state."

The disease is fatal to trees if they are al-lowed to go untreated. During the wet years of 1938, 1941, and 1943 it is estimated that almost one million citrus trees were stricken with the disease in California.

Information for the study was drawn from the 1970 census enrollment data provided by the U.S. Office of Education and local regional transpor-tation planning council.

The UCR plant pathol-ogist emphasized that pro-cedures for preventing tristeza infection of young grapefruit and lemon trees in California nur-series are available and should be used by all nurserymen to reduce the hazard to these varieties.

He reported that the stubborn pathogen has proved to be difficult to inactivate by heat or chemical treatment of small infected plants. Some infected plants have survived treatment at 131 degrees Fahrenheit for five hours in UCR studies.

Most mature citrus trees in California are resistant or tolerant to stubborn infection, al-though conspicuous ex-ceptions are noted oc-casionally, according to

Claremont Refuses Furniture Rental

A request from the Cinco de Mayo com-mittee to borrow 19 tables and 88 chairs from Tay-lor Hall and 15 booths for the Arbol Verde Park fiesta the weekend of May 6 has run into some snags. Albert Gutierrez, rep-resenting the fiesta com-mittee, told the City Council Monday night that a crowd three times the one which attended the af-fair last year is expected this year.

Councilman Bertye Smith at first moved that the matter be referred to the Claremont Festi-val Committee which is coordinating the various musical functions that weekend, throughout the community. But City Manager Keith Mulrooney said that the city has never been in the business of renting tables and chairs. He noted that the city's booths are ren-tered for $5 a day which is used to nullify any damage to the booths. Gutierrez said that the fiesta committee wanted all the booths, but cham-ber of commerce mana-ger Alex Turner com-mented, "I thought we were coordinating this."

"I'm sure we can work something out," Gutier-rez replied. In his letter to the council, he had asked for the booths free of deposit and rent. Turner noted that the fee charged would cover set-up and rental.

Councilman Gene Block said he felt the city staff should be given some lee-way in handling the mat-ter.

The council decided that the festival commit-tee would allocate the booths, and that the city would be reimbursed for any damage to them.

Gutierrez was in-formed that the Taylor Hall chairs and tables do not leave Taylor Hall.

Mulrooney mentioned that tables and chairs can be rented very cheaply from an outside firm.

GlenHelen

Holds
Trail Ride

The Glen Helen Equestrian Center will hold its grand opening May 13 and 14. A trail ride will originate from the new equestrian center at Glen Helen Regional Park. Everyone is invited to partake in the festivities.

The Equestrian Center is located north of the main entrance to Glen Helen Regional Park, off Devore Road. The new facility encompasses 80 acres, including pasture land, corrals, stables, a show ring, office and tack room, and parking. Activities to be offered by the facility include horse rentals, hay rides, boarding, and riding lessons.

The trail ride, cosponsored by the Department of Regional Parks and Equestrian Trails, Inc., Corral #18, will begin promptly at 9 a.m. Saturday and will last all day. The Sunday ride will end around noon, so that its participants may get an early start home. Riders are requested to bring a sack lunch for the noon stop on Saturday and to carry drinking water on the rides. Trail ride fee is $1 per person.

Camping will be provided at Glen Helen Regional Park at $2 per rig per day. For those attending but not participating in the ride, the park offers boating, fishing, picnicking, and related facilities which will be open during the weekend.

A barbeque dinner will be held Saturday evening at approximately 6 p.m. Entertainment is planned following the barbeque. We suggest you make reservations with the Equestrian Center.

NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL ESTATE UNDER EXECUTION SHERIFF'S SALE

No. C 6773 COSME BARRERAS Plaintiff

vs. INTERNATIONAL MOBILE HOMES, etc., et al Defendant

By virtue of an execution issued out of the Superior Court, County of Los Angeles, State of California, wherein CYPRESS INSURANCE COMPANY Judgment Creditor, obtained a judgment against COSME BARRERAS Judgment Debtor, on the 6th day of March 1972, for the sum of FIVE THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED TWENTY-SEVEN and 50/100 Dollars, lawful money of the United States, besides costs and interest, I have levied upon all the right, title, claim and interest of said Judgment Debtor COSME BARRERAS of, in and to the following described real property, situated, lying and being in the County of San Bernardino, State of California, and bounded and described as follows:

Lot 18, Tract 6563 as per map recorded in Book 83, Pages 58 and 59 of Maps (Parcel No. 104-322-04) in the office of the County Recorder of San Bernardino County.

Commonly known as 158 Vallejo Way, Upland, California.

Therefore, Public Notice is hereby given, that on Thursday, the 25th day of May A.D. 1972, at 10:00 AM of that day, in front of the North Door of the Court House, City and County of San Bernardino, I will sell all the right, title, interest and estate of the above named Judgment Debtor, in and to the above described property, or as much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy said judgment and execution, with all costs, to the highest and best bidder for cash, lawful money of the United States.

Dated this 1st day of May, A.D. 1972

and appurtenant work.
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that sealed bids will be received in the office of the Purchasing Agent of the City of Upland, California, up to 2:00 PM on May 11, 1972, at which time they will be taken to the Council Chambers and publicly opened by the City Manager, for Gas Tax Projects No. 247, No. 249 and No. 253, the resurfacing of Seventeenth Street from Euclid Avenue to 800 feet west, the resurfacing and improvement of Fifteenth Street from Campus Avenue to Euclid Avenue, and the improvement of Thirteenth Street from 300 feet to 687 feet west of Campus Avenue, in accordance with the Plans,
Specifications, and other Contract Documents on file in the office of the City Engineer of said City, to which Plans, Specifications, Standards and Documents bidders are referred to for further information.

The Plans and Contract Documents may be obtained at the office of the Purchasing Agent, at the City Hall, 123 "D" Street,
Upland, California, upon payment of Five Dollars ($5.00) for each set, which amount will not be refundable.
Standard Specifications for Public Works Improvement Books, 1970 Edition, including the 1971 and 1972 Supplements, may be purchased at the office of the City Engineer at a charge of Six Dollars ($6.00)
for each book.

Each proposal must be accompanied by cash, cashier's check or certified check, or surety bid bond in the amount of not less than ten percent (10%) of the estimated aggregate amount of the bid as a guarantee that the bidder, if successful, will promptly execute a contract in the required form and furnish a satisfactory faithful performance bond and material and labor bond.
Each of said bonds shall be in the amount of one hundred percent (100%) of the contract price.

Pursuant to the provisions of the Labor Code of the State of California, not less than the general prevailing rate of per diem wages and not less than the general prevailing rate of per diem wages for legal holidays and overtime work, for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the work contemplated under the agreement, as ascertained by and set forth in Resolution No. 2327 adopted by the Upland City Council, shall be paid to all workmen employed on said work by the Contractor or by the subcontractors doing, or contracting to do, any part of said work.

Bids must be returned to the office of the Purchasing Agent enclosed within a sealed envelope with the words "Bids for Gas Tax Projects No. 247, No.
249 and No. 253" plainly marked on the outside of the envelope. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids which the City Council may deem not to be to the best interest of the City and also the right to waive any informalities in a bid, and the right to award the contract for the above described work within 30 days thereafter. Work of construction shall begin within 10 days after the signing of the contract and shall be completed within 45 calendar days after the date of the contract.
Further information will be furnished and detailed plans and specifications of the proposed work may be inspected at the office of the City Engineer of the City of Upland. Proposal blanks and copies of the Plans and Specifications may also be obtained from the Purchasing Agent.
